

Teaching with Creativity

10:00 - 10:30

Headteachers as promoters of curriculum innovation

FEATURED

Teaching with Creativity

Rachael Shaw

Headteacher, Branston Junior Academy

José Miguel Sousa

Director, EduFor Training Centre (Portugal)

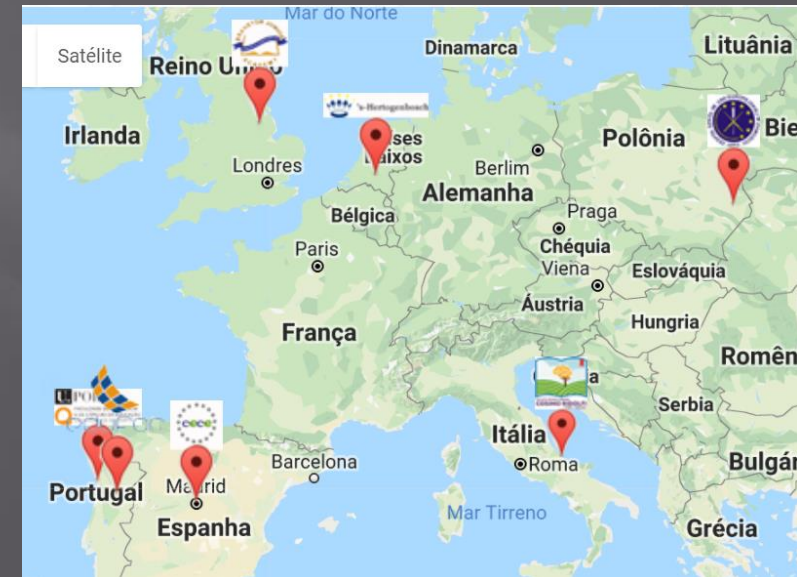

Project N° 2015-1-PT01-KA201-013059

Managing for @ School of Success (M@SS) is a project included in Key Action 2 – Cooperation for innovation and the sharing of good practices – of the Erasmus+ programme.

The M@SS project challenges practices related to school management, headteacher training and educational decentralization of relevant policies; in the scope of an international partnership, formed of seven partners from six European countries: Portugal, Spain, Italy, The Netherlands, Poland and the United Kingdom.

It is organised around three topics:

- Autonomy,
- Schools' Self-assessment
- Curriculum.

Six Questions:

Q1 - My curriculum currently enables me to be creative in my teaching. YES /NO?

Q2 - I feel empowered to contribute to the innovation of our school curriculum. YES/NO?

Q3 – My Headteacher promotes school teachers' innovation. YES/NO ?

Q4 – At my school, students identify with the vision of the school. YES/NO?

Q5 – Lack of resources is a challenge to promoting creativity in Curriculum. YES/NO?

Q6 – Introducing innovative forms of assessment changes the Curriculum approach. YES/NO?

The Curriculum allows the decision-making capacity of teachers.

Headteachers as Promoters of Curriculum Innovation

The professional development of the teacher works by establishing cooperative networks in the School.

Headteachers as Promoters of Curriculum Innovation

The ability of the headteacher / leader to value the best of their teachers' work.

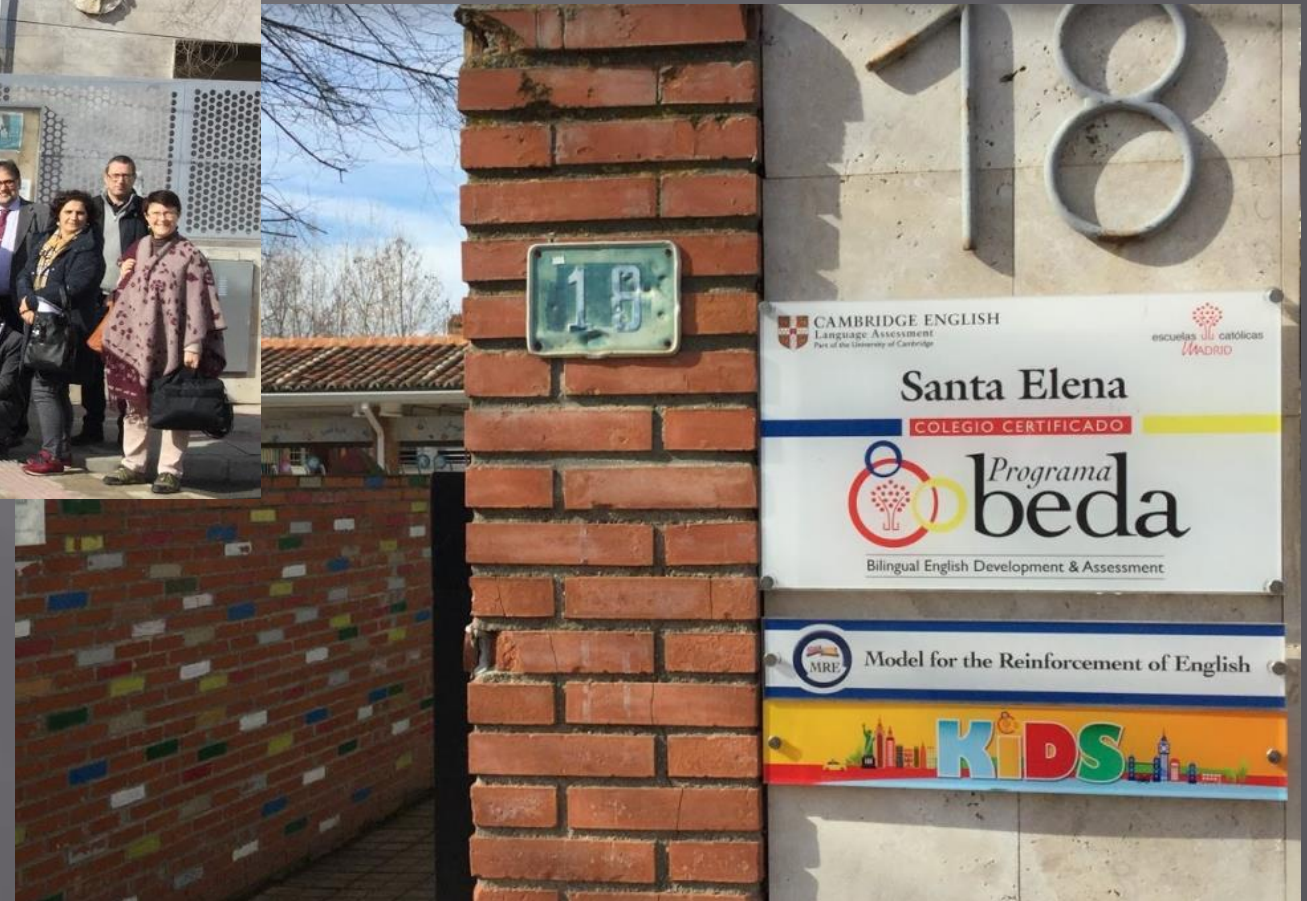

Headteachers as Promoters of Curriculum Innovation

The importance of students sharing the vision of the school.

Headteachers as Promoters of Curriculum Innovation

The participation of the school in projects, enables the development of the Curriculum.

Headteachers as Promoters of Curriculum Innovation

The mission of the school, is student success

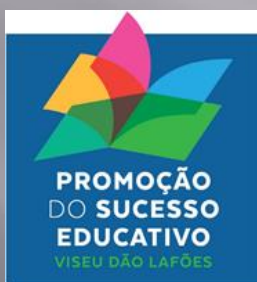

PAFC - Curriculum Autonomy and Flexibility Project

National Program for Promoting School Success

Promoting School Success in VISEU / DÃO LAFÕES REGION

PIIP - Pilot Project of Pedagogical Innovation

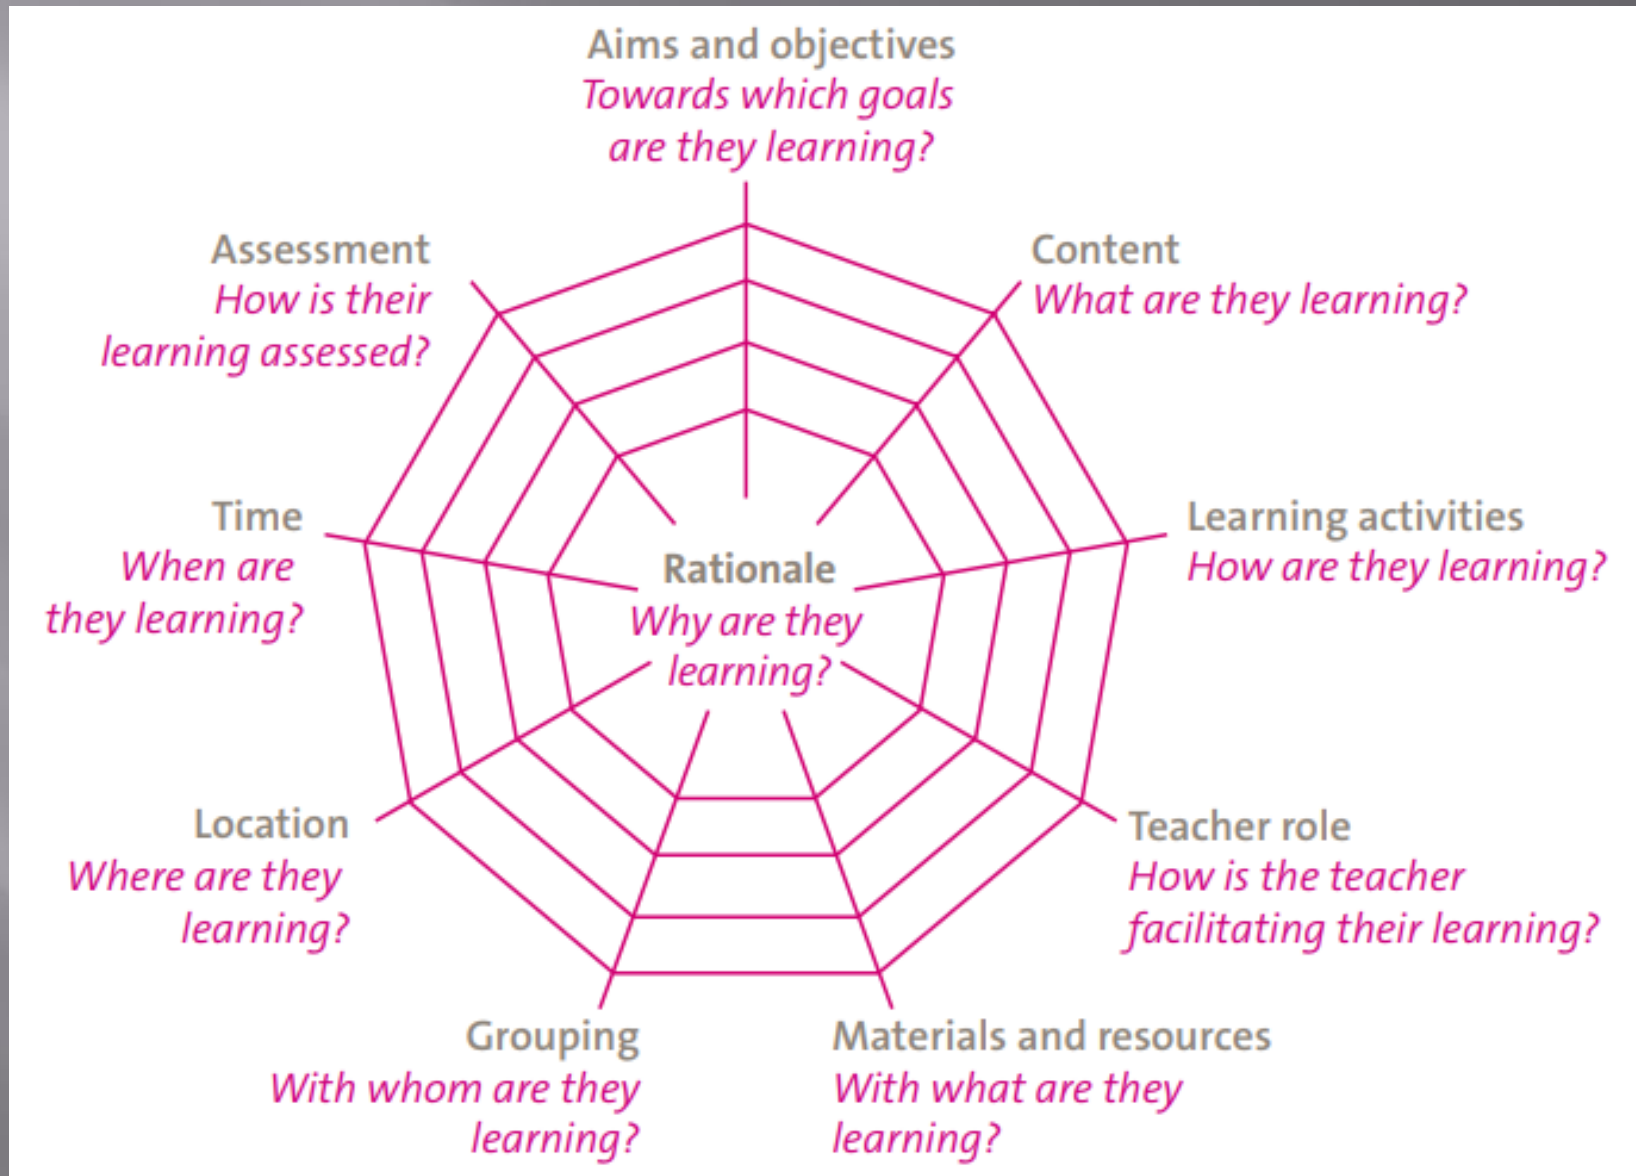

UNIÃO EUROPEIA

Fundos Europeus
Estruturais e de Investimento

Headteachers as Promoters of Curriculum Innovation

Curriculum components

Van den Akker, J. (2005). Curriculum development re-invented. Leiden: SLO. Netherlands Institute for Curriculum Development.

Headteachers as Promoters of Curriculum Innovation

Thank you!

José Miguel Sousa
diretor@edufor.pt

Rachael Shaw
rachael.shaw@branstonjunioracademy.co.uk

